

Struggling with energy bills

The fuel poverty gap now stands at almost £200 more than it did 10 years ago.

Across England alone, people in fuel poverty are looking at bills totalling £1.05 billion more than they could afford. This compares to £606 million in 2003.

53%

struggled to pay their energy bills last year

55%

of low income* households struggled to pay their energy bills

59%

of disabled people struggled to pay their energy bills

56%

of employed people struggled to pay their energy bills

68%

of social housing tenants struggled to pay their energy bills

81%

of low income households* worried about paying their energy bills this year

Visit: turn2us.org.uk/fuelpoverty : #fuelpovertygap

*Adults with gross annual incomes of £25,000 and less. Total sample size 1091 adults with annual household incomes under £40,000 (Nov – Dec 2012).

WAY OUT